The Mystery/Detective Fiction section invites proposals for its panels. All periods, authors, etc. of mystery and detective fiction are eligible. However, we especially invite proposals which deal with authors from less-represented groups: authors of color, authors who write in less-widely spoken languages and/or belong to subcultures within the dominant culture, GLTB authors and presenters who employ less-common approaches and analyses (Freudian, feminist, deconstructionist, etc.)

Proposals should range from 100-200 words, and should include full contact information (e-mail address, academic affiliation, etc. (We also invite submissions from independent scholars.)
